GLADIOLI ARE EASY TO GROW

Any good garden soil is suitable for Gladioli although they do like a sandy loam best. In preparing the soil follow only such methods as you would give a fine crop of garden vegetables. However, you will be rewarded for any special care given them in the way of cultivating, fertilizing and watering.

It should be remembered that Gladioli enjoy sunshine and should not be planted in very shady places. Plant in rows, borders, among shrubbery, roses, and flowers, etc., or in separate groups.

Planting should begin any time after early garden-making followed by successive plantings at say ten-day intervals until early July. Set the bulbs four inches deep and from four to eight inches apart. The finest blooms come from the earliest and the latest plantings. These Gladioli have the opportunity of coming into flower when the days are somewhat cooler and they really make much nicer flowers than in the terrific hot summer days.

Complete cultural instructions including information on insect and disease control will be included with each order. You will find this information very much worth while for it tells you just how to care for your bulbs throughout the entire year, including the harvesting and storing of the bulbs so you will have fine Gladioli for the next season.

Kunderd Gladioli Give Greatest Satisfaction

Gentlemen:

August 31, 1937.

This summer for the first time we grew the Kunderd Gladioli and never have we had such magnificent flowers! The plants were at least 4 ft. high, strong and erect, and the flowers larger than any I have ever seen (outside of your own exhibits).

Last, but not least, the colors of some were unusual and very beautiful! In short, the success of these Gladioli means that we shall hereafter never want any Gladioli but the Kunderd!

Very sincerely yours,

MISS CLAIRE J. JACOBS,
Milwaukee, Wis.

Please send as soon as weather permits 50 Gladiolus Corms of your Wonder Mixture. If they prove to be as lovely as the ones I got from you last year, I shall have a thrill every morning in July and August when I rush out to see what new beauty has unfolded during the night. I plant the corms early (Easter week, 1935) as our season is a short one. My Gladioli were greatly admired last year. "Loella" seemed to be a special favorite. It was so unusual. Last season I regretted that I had not asked the Government for a permit for a larger number, so this year I was determined to be on the safe side as you will notice.

SARA E. WEST,
Fernie, B. C., Can.

I have bought Gladiolus bulbs from you for a number of years and have never been disappointed in them. I have never had any others that could compare with them. They are most beautiful. I get quite a thrill over growing them in my garden.

MRS. WM. P. COOPER,
Shelbyville, Tenn.

Imagine if you can a beautiful flower stalk springing out of the ground to a height of about 2 feet with no foliage. That is just what the Magic Lily does. Bulbs of this unusual flower are quite rare and are not offered generally.
